IT IS A FACT

That thousands of our business men go to their offices in the morning after an uneasy night, or a late dinner, feeling dull and all out of sorts. This is entirely unnecessary, for a single dose of that sparkling, refreshing, tonic, Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient, taken before breakfast, will immediately dispel all feelings of heaviness, remove gently but surely the cause, and quicken into healthy action every fibre of the system. For sale by all druggists.

This is your opportunity to visit the east by the scenic line of America.

Perplexity of the Agent of the Big Show.

[From the Leadville Daily Democrat.]
The most perplexed man in Leadville yesterday afternoon was Colonel J. A. Wood, contracting and press agent for John Robinson's big show. When the colonel applied to the water company for enough aqua to supply the show during its sojourn here, he was informed that the bottled monopoly that he could have all the water he desired on payment of $50. The colonel kicked but it was of no use, and he telegraphed to Fairplay—where the circus exhibited last night—informing Mr. Robinson of his predicament. No response was received until midnight, when the following dispatch was received.

FAIRPLAY, June 23, 11:30 p.m.

Colonel John A. Wood, Leadville: The animals have just held a meeting on the Leadville water supply question. The giraffes kicked fearfully when I read your dispatch, but the alligator silenced them by a stirring speech, saying he was born in a mud bath, and "tailings" from the "jiggles" was good enough for him. The elephants resolved to pack their tracks with snowballs while crossing the range to-night, and the camels do not care a continental divide whether they ever see water again. Everything will be lively, so don't worry yourself. JOHN ROBINSON.

This telegram afforded immense relief to the colonel, and his happiness was completed a few moments later by a Chestnut street well owner, who agreed to supply the entire outfit with water during its stay, for the paltry consideration of two admission tickets and free access to the lemonade department. The little baby elephants don't think they will like Salt Lake water as well as they did Leadville beer; but nevertheless they will be found very near the lemonade and peanut stand in the monster menagerie, ready to pack their trunks with candy and peanuts. Little Pearl says it takes a long time for the little boys and girls to fill her trunk. They will surely come to Salt Lake City Wednesday and Thursday, July 25th and 26th, 1883, and will have a big game of base ball for two days.

Railroad and Mining Stocks.

New York, 14.—Stocks heavy, lower this morning. The decline ranged from 1/4 to 3/4. Northern Pacific, Lackawanna, Northwestern, New York Central and Western Union conspicuous in downward movement.

New York, 14.—Governments lower except for 4, which were steady. Stocks were heavily depressed, on reports of yellow fever at South and on the revival of rumors of the strike of telegraph operators. Bears were not slow to take advantage of the prevailing distrust, and hammered the entire list severely. They succeeded in shaking out considerably of the stock. Towards the close a rally of 1/4 to 1/2 took place, but a portion of the improvement was subsequently lost as compares with yesterday's closing prices. Active shares 1/4 to 2 1/2% lower.

Clingen's Murderers.

Des Moines, 14.—The murderers of Clingen, at Polk City, last Tuesday night, were overtaken and surrounded in a large body of timber, known as Elkhorn Grove, in the southwest corner of Shelby County, last night; and this morning, in an attempt to escape, one of them was fatally wounded, and the other captured. The wounded man gave his name as Benjamin Gates, and before he died he confessed he was the murderer of Clingen. The other man who was threatened with hanging also confessed. In the fight preceding the capture, J. W. Maddy, a druggist of Maddy, was dangerously shot, and it is thought he will die. Benjamin Craig, a farmer, is also shot, though not fatally. The captured man gave the name of Smith, from Missouri. He is in jail at Harlan, Shelby County. Intense excitement prevails through western Iowa, and is freely shared in this city. Arrells Hallock, who was wounded yesterday, died to-day. Specials to the State Register from Harlan say Smith is safely in jail there. He has made a confession implicating his dead partner, who, he says, killed Clingen. Smith says he was present but had no hand in the shooting. There is intense excitement at Harlan, and probably Smith will be lynched before morning.

Murderers Captured.

Des Moines, 14.—News is just received that one of the murderers of Clingen, of Polk City, has been killed at Elkhorn Grove, Shelby County. The other is so closely pressed that he can't escape. The man killed, confessed he had killed Clingen and Smith a year ago. Later, the other man has also been captured, he is in charge of Sheriff Littleton of Polk County.

Condition of the Treasury.

Washington, 14.—Condition of the treasury to-day: Gold coin and bullion, $199,858,918; silver dollars and bullion, $116,488,701; fractional silver coin, $23,569,359; United States notes, $54,762,569; total, $384,709,541; certificates outstanding—gold, $82,207,860; silver, $73,155,611; currency, $12,770,000.

More of Friday's Storm.

Omaha, 14.—Reports show that the storm of yesterday was quite general throughout Nebraska. The rainfall was heavy, and in some places was quite violent. In other sections there was a terrible hail. The dispatches are of a general nature, giving no details. In Cass County, the hail did terrible damage to the crops; corn that stood five feet high was literally cut to the ground and blown away; and no one would suppose that there had been any corn there. Small grain was laid flat and cut in about the same way. The damage is simply incalculable. A dispatch from Nebraska city says: In Cass County everything in the shape of growing crops is destroyed. In Otoe County the northern part is literally devastated, and the loss cannot be estimated at present. The same is true of the southern part of Cass County. In Seward County there is a path a half a mile wide, in which crops are ruined. Considerable glass is broken wherever hail fell. Buffalo, Butler, Sherman, Adams and Hall counties were severely injured in different localities. The loss in the vicinity of Rising, Butler County, is estimated at $100,000.

The War of Rates—The Honduras Party.

Chicago, 14.—It is stated here that the A. T. and S. F. D. and R. G. and Burlington roads have begun the war rates west of the Missouri river, directed against the U. P. That rate from Pueblo to Denver is made $2.50 instead of $2.75. The three roads make the following announcement: "Passengers from points east of the Missouri river through to San Francisco will be given round trip tickets from Pueblo to Denver and Leadville free of charge; the regular rate being $28.20; and through passengers by the Burlington route will be given a free ticket from Salt Lake to Leadville and return."

President Soto and party, of Honduras, visited Pullman to-day, and were given a reception by a number of Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans capitalists this evening, at which the commercial relations of Honduras and the United States were discussed, and later the party visited and inspected the Inter-Ocean newspaper office.

Mortality in New York—Returned Paupers.

New York, 14.—The mortality in this city has been a very high rate considering the temperate state of the weather.

Two female pauper emigrants and children were sent to Europe, to-day, on the City of Rome, by the emigration commissioner, and one female pauper emigrant and children were returned on the steamer Egypt.

Both Whipped.

Brighton, Beach, N. Y., 14.—A prize fight took place this morning between Gallagher of England, and Paddy Murphy of New York, eighteen rounds; the fight lasted one hour. At the end of the last round both men showed evidence of terrible punishment; being too exhausted to come to the scratch again, the fight was declared a draw.

Surrendered Train Robbers.

Little Rock, 14.—The two Iron Mountain Railroad train robbers who escaped from Coal Hill mines, entered the stockade this morning, and surrendered. They had been lost and wandering about in the woods, accidentally approaching the stockade. They had become disheartened, having nearly starved.

Still they Come.

Lawrence, Kas., 14.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon, a cyclone struck a section of country in Wakarusa township, three miles south of this city, destroying wheat fields, fences, and everything in its way. No estimate yet made of the damage.

A Nevada Town Burned.

Belleville, Nev., 14.—A fire this morning destroyed the business part of the town. Losses $25,000, insurance $30,000.

The Plague Spreading.

Alexandria, 14.—Cholera has appeared at Belka and Chobar, near Fustat.

TO RIGHT A WRONG.

"Will You Walk Into My Parlor, Said the Spider to the Fly."

Editors Herald:

Sir—With the knowledge that your paper will extend to me the courtesy of publishing a few ideas in relation to the late unfortunate bank robbery, I venture upon penning you a communication, not, however, with the intention of making a defense of the conduct of my brother, whose actions deserve punishment, but more for the purpose of giving a word of advice to other young men who may be led astray through the influence of bad advice, as well as example, of those who only rejoice to see them in a similar position. Some twenty-five months ago, a well-known contemporary of yours, published in your city, whose editor we will for convenience sake, as we cannot do so for any other reason, call "Good One", saw fit to regale the public mind with an article sneeringly referring to the illness of my father, Apostle C. C. Rich, and who, on being subject to a polite invitation to retreat, made the following apology under the head of "To Right a Wrong."

"On Sunday morning last a personal notice was published referring to the illness of C. C. Rich, and referring to the sick man in a sneering manner. The notice appeared in the Tribune without the knowledge or consent of the responsible editor or reporter of the paper. It was wrong in all respects, and in as public a manner as it was first published the Tribune expresses its sincere regrets that any such notice appeared. The Tribune finds it often a duty to publish unpleasant things about individuals and systems, but it never willingly assaults men who they know through physical infirmities are helpless to defend themselves. Every responsible man about this office regrets sincerely that such a notice should have appeared regarding a man who is entitled to commiseration instead of abuse. This case is the more aggravating because the universal sentiment of this community is that Mr. Rich, through a long life, has so borne himself as to win the respect of all as a good citizen and an honest man, and men of every creed, and of no creed, extend to him now their sincere sympathy in his illness."

We will now see how this truth, would be reformer of "Mormonism" never willingly assaults men when they, through physical infirmities, are helpless to defend themselves. In the Thursday's issue of the Tribune your readers will doubtless have read several paragraphs, all more or less insinuating, that the character of my brother, who lays in jail, has been the result of his parental teachings. Now, Mr. "Good One," you know that the father of this young man lies at the present time at the point of death, but you evidently forget that you once had to "Right a Wrong," and you again assail him when he is yet, "through physical infirmities, helpless to defend himself;" and the son who will sit quietly by and see his father thus abused is worse than the coward who makes the attack. It will forcibly strike you readers that the position my brother is now in is only due to the advice given in an editorial published in the Salt Lake Tribune of March 6, 1881, wherein they declare that they "rejoice when they see the young 'Mormon' play billiards, get drunk, run with bad women, and they believe that billiard balls, saloons, and houses of ill-fame are more powerful reforming agencies in Utah than churches and schools." And, now they have the young man who has carried him, they give us an unhappy illustration of the old fable, "Will you walk into my parlor, said the spider to the fly."

To the young men of Utah, I trust that the fearful experience of my unfortunate brother will act as a warning to them in the future, as they can now plainly see how those who are sent here to "Christianize!" the Latter-day Saints will rejoice at the downfall of one who is the son of a servant of God; and to the editor of the Tribune, I will only say that I do not expect anything else, but that he will attack my brother who has brought disgrace upon his own head; but I would remind him of the fact that it was the son and not the parent who committed the robbery, nor was this the result of the teachings and examples he had received, which have always been for him to serve the Lord with all his might, mind, strength, and to live an honest, virtuous life. As I have before said, I do not expect or desire that the editor of the Tribune should refrain from condemning the action of my brother and all such, but by way of advice and friendly counsel, I would say that he had better honor my father and my mother that "his days may be long in the land that the Lord his God has given him."

Yours, etc.,

BEN. E. RICH.

The Black Flag.

The title of the play to be produced at the Opera House this week—"The Black Flag"—has a tendency to lead people to believe the play is of a nautical, or piratical character. Such is not the case. At Portland, England, when a convict escapes, a black flag is hoisted, and as the action of the play is based on supposed events connected with this prison, including the escape of a convict, it was given the peculiar title, "The Black Flag." The play is of a domestic nature, of the character of the popular modern drama, and has been remarkably successful wherever produced. An excellent company from the Union Square Theatre, will present the play. A fact also worthy of mention in this connection, is that the company carries its own scenery with it—and it is certainly fine—and utilizes it in the presentation of the piece. There is every reason to believe the play will be a pronounced success and that it will draw well.

A young lady writes to ascertain how many lemons are required to make a lemon-pie. That depends altogether upon the pie. If a baker's pie, we should say one lemon would make about six pies, and there would be enough lemon left to make a pint of lemonade. The bakers make their lemon-pie of dough, just as the circus fraternity makes its lemonade of water. We should, therefore, unobtrusively say that it takes just as much lemon to make a baker's pie as it does to make a glass of circus-lemonade.—Puck.

Many an egotistical literary adventurer starts out hopefully to conduct a train of thought, who are long discovers that he only runs a show freight, loaded with goods more notable for their bulk and weight than value; while some comrade, who had very humble aspirations, dashes by in charge of a lightning express, filled with many parcels of great wealth.—Judge.

Truly, time, like a bad suchre-hand, bringeth all things to pass. The year 1883 will go "thundering down the
